

Homebound Instruction - IGBG-R

A child may become a candidate for homebound instruction when he or she is hospitalized or homebound for more than 11 consecutive school days due to illness or injury.

A parent or guardian of a student, unable to attend a school because of illness or injury, may request that the student receive homebound instruction.

The Building Principal -will select a homebound instructor from a list of available substitutes if possible. When appropriate, telephone service will be used.

The homebound teacher will instruct the homebound student and consult with the homebound student's regular classroom teachers.

The homebound teacher will be responsible for securing needed textbooks and other educational materials from the school; coordinator instruction with course requirements in cooperation with the regular teachers; and submit a periodic evaluation of the student's performance to the regular classroom teacher.
